More about the center

Shenzhen International Communication Center (SICC) is located in the north area of Xiangmi Lake, Futian District, Shenzhen, Guangdong Province, China, the core area of the city’s new financial center. The project has a construction area of 430,000 square meters, including 220,000 square meters of conference center and 210,000 square meters of supporting hotel. The conference center includes large meeting rooms (about 5,200 square meters), banquet halls (about 4,000 square meters), multi-functional conference halls, medium-sized and small meeting rooms over 60, with a conference carpet area of about 21,000 square meters. The public space for exhibitions and displays on each floor and outdoor plaza is more than 20,000 square meters, which can provide abundant carrying space for 10,000 people’s congresses and high-quality exhibitions. The supporting conference hotel and business hotel have more than 1,000 luxury rooms, which are seamlessly connected with the conference center, providing participants with one-stop experience of conference, catering and accommodation.
